NATURE OF ACTION

1. This lawsuit is brought as a proposed class action against Nishikawa Rubber Company ("Nishikawa Rubber"), Nishikawa of America, Inc. ("NISCO"), Nishikawa Cooper LLC ("Nishikawa Cooper"), (collectively, "Nishikawa Defendants" or "Nishikawa"), Tokai Kogyo Co., LTD. ("Tokai Kogyo") and Green Tokai Co., LTD. ("Green Tokai"), (together "Tokai Defendants" or "Tokai"), (collectively, "Defendants") and unnamed co-conspirators, manufacturers and/or suppliers of automotive body sealing products ("Body Sealings") (defined below) globally and in the United States, for engaging in a long-running conspiracy to unlawfully fix, artificially raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices, rig bids for, and allocate the market and customers in the United States for Body Sealings. According to the United States Department of Justice (“DOJ”), Defendants’ conspiracy successfully targeted the long-struggling United States automotive industry, raising prices for car manufacturers and consumers alike.

2. “Body Sealings” are automotive body sealing parts. They are typically made of rubber and trim the doors, hoods, and compartments of vehicles. Body Sealings keep noise, debris, rainwater and wind from entering the vehicle and control vehicle vibration. In some instances they also serve as a design element. Body Sealings include body-side opening seals, door-side weather-stripping, glass-run channels, trunk lids, and other rubber sealings.

3. Plaintiffs seek to represent all persons and entities who, during the period from and including January 2000 through such time as the anticompetitive effects of the Defendants’ conduct ceased (“Class Period”), purchased or leased a new four-wheeled passenger automobile, van, sports utility vehicle, crossover, or pickup truck (“Vehicle”) in the United States for personal use and not for resale, which included one or more Body Sealing(s) as a component part, which were manufactured or sold by a Defendant, any current or former subsidiary of a Defendant, or any-co-conspirator of a Defendant.

4. Defendants manufacture, market, and/or sell Body Sealings throughout and into the United States. Defendants and their co-conspirators (as yet unknown) agreed, combined and conspired to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices, rig bids, and allocate the market and customers in the United States for Body Sealings.

5. The DOJ’s Antitrust Division is currently conducting a broad criminal investigation into illegal price-fixing and bid-rigging in the automotive parts industry. As part of its criminal investigation, the DOJ is seeking information about unlawful anticompetitive conduct in the market for a number of different but related automotive parts, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (“FBI”) has participated in raids, pursuant to search warrants, carried out in the offices of a number of major competitors in the automotive parts industry.

6. The automotive parts investigation is the largest criminal investigation the Antitrust Division has ever pursued, both in terms of its scope and its impact on American consumers and businesses. The ongoing cartel investigation of price-fixing and bid-rigging in the automotive parts industry has yielded, to date, more than $2.8 billion in criminal fines. The European Commission Competition Authority (“EC”) has also conducted dawn raids at the European offices of several automotive parts manufacturers.

7. On October 8, 2015, the DOJ announced that Keiji Kyomoto, Mikio Katsumaru, and Yuji Kuroda, employees of Nishikawa Rubber, NISCO, and/or Nishikawa Cooper were indicted for conspiracy to rig bids and fix prices for Body Sealings sold to Honda Motor Company Ltd. (“Honda”), Toyota Motor Company (“Toyota”), and certain of their subsidiaries and affiliates for installation in vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States and elsewhere.

8. On April 20, 2016, the DOJ announced that Kyomoto, the former Vice President of NISCO and/or Nishikawa Cooper and former President of NISCO and/or Nishikawa Cooper, agreed to plead guilty to the charges asserted in the indictment, serve 18 months in a U.S. prison and pay a $20,000 criminal fine.

9. On June 15, 2016, the DOJ announced that Tokai Kogyo, Green Tokai and Akitada Tazumi, an Assistant General Manager for Tokai Kogyo, were indicted for conspiracy to rig bids and fix prices for Body Sealings sold to Honda and certain of its subsidiaries and affiliates for installation in vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States and elsewhere.

10. On July 20, 2016, the DOJ announced that Nishikawa agreed to plead guilty and to pay a $130 million criminal fine for its role in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize and maintain the prices of Body Sealings sold to Honda, Toyota and Fuji Heavy Industries Ltd. (“Subaru”) and certain of their subsidiaries and affiliates in the United States and elsewhere. According to the DOJ press release, Nishikawa’s conduct primarily targeted the United States.

11. The Defendants and their co-conspirators participated in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate the supply of, rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, Body Sealings sold to Vehicle manufacturers and others in the United States. The combination and conspiracy engaged in by Defendants and their co-conspirators was an unreasonable restraint of interstate and foreign trade and commerce in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1, and state antitrust, unfair competition, consumer protection laws, and unjust enrichment laws.

12. As a direct result of the anticompetitive and unlawful conduct alleged herein, Plaintiffs and the Classes (as defined below) paid artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings during the Class Period and have thereby suffered antitrust injury to their business or property.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

13. Plaintiffs bring this action under Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26) to secure equitable and injunctive relief against the Defendants for violating Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1). Plaintiffs also assert claims for actual and exemplary damages pursuant to state antitrust, unfair competition, consumer protection and unjust enrichment laws, and seek to obtain restitution, recover damages and secure other relief against the Defendants for violations of those state laws. Plaintiffs and the Classes also seek attorneys’ fees, costs, and other expenses under federal and state law.

14. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this action pursuant to Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26), Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1), and Title 28, United States Code, Sections 1331 and 1337. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction of the state law claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332(d) and 1337, in that this is a class action in which the matter or controversy exceeds the sum of $5,000,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and in which some members of the proposed Classes are citizens of a state different from the Defendants.

15. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to Section 12 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 22), and 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391 (b), (c), and (d), because a substantial part of the events giving rise to Plaintiffs' claims occurred in this District, a substantial portion of the affected interstate trade and commerce discussed below has been carried out in this District, and one or more of the Defendants reside, are licensed to do business in, are doing business in, had agents in, or are found or transact business in this District.

16. This Court has in personam jurisdiction over Defendants because Defendants, either directly or through the ownership and/or control of its subsidiaries, inter alia: (a) transacted business in the United States, including in this District; (b) directly or indirectly sold or marketed substantial quantities of Body Sealings throughout the United States, including in this District; (c) had substantial aggregate contacts with the United States as a whole, including in this District; or (d) were engaged in an illegal price-fixing conspiracy that was directed at, and had a direct, substantial, reasonably foreseeable and intended effect of causing injury to the business or property of persons and entities residing in, located in, or doing business throughout the United States, including in this District. Defendants also conduct business throughout the United States, including in this jurisdiction, and they have purposefully availed themselves of the laws of the United States.

17. Defendants engaged in conduct both inside and outside of the United States that caused direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable and intended anticompetitive effects upon interstate commerce within the United States.

18. The activities of Defendants and their co-conspirators directly targeted the United States Vehicle market and were within the flow of, were intended to, and did have, a substantial effect on interstate commerce of the United States. Defendants' products are sold in the flow of interstate commerce.

19. According to the indictments filed against Nishikawa Rubber and the Tokai Defendants, substantial quantities of equipment and supplies necessary to the production and distribution of Body Sealings manufactured and sold by Nishikawa Rubber, the Tokai Defendants and their co-conspirators traveled in interstate and import trade and commerce.

20. Moreover, during some or all of the Class Period, the OEMs that were affected by the conspiracy had departments located in the United States that were responsible for purchasing Body Sealings to be installed in their Vehicles. For example, Honda's purchasing department is located in Raymond, Ohio, and Toyota's purchasing department is located in Erlanger, Kentucky.

21. Body Sealings manufactured abroad by Defendants and sold for use in Vehicles in the United States are goods brought into the United States for sale, and therefore constitute import commerce. To the extent any Body Sealings are purchased in the United States, and such Body Sealings do not constitute import commerce, Defendants' activities with respect thereto, as more fully alleged herein during the Class Period, had, and continue to have, a direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable effect on United States commerce. The anticompetitive conduct, and its effect on United States commerce described herein, proximately caused antitrust injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes in the United States.

22. By reason of the unlawful activities hereinafter alleged, Defendants' unlawful activities substantially affected commerce throughout the United States, causing injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes. Defendants, directly and through their agents, engaged in activities affecting all states, to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices, rig bids and allocate the market and customers in the United States for Body Sealings, which conspiracy unreasonably restrained trade and adversely affected the market for Body Sealings.

23. Defendants' conspiracy and wrongdoing described herein adversely affected persons in the United States who purchased or leased a new Vehicle in the United States not for resale which included one or more Body Sealings.

Defendants

77. When Plaintiffs refer to a corporate family or companies by a single name in the Complaint, they are alleging that one or more employees or agents of entities within that corporate family engaged in conspiratorial acts on behalf of every company in that family. The individual participants in the conspiratorial acts did not always know the corporate affiliation of their counterparts, nor did they distinguish between the entities within a corporate family. The individual participants entered into agreements on behalf of their respective corporate families. As a result, those agents represented the entire corporate family with respect to such conduct, and the corporate family was party to the agreements that those agents reached.

AGENTS AND CO-CONSPIRATORS

83. Each Defendant acted as the principal of or agent for the other Defendant and unnamed co-conspirators with respect to the acts, violations, and common course of conduct alleged herein.

84. Various persons, partnerships, sole proprietors, firms, corporations and individuals not named as defendants in this lawsuit, and individuals, the identities of which are presently unknown, have participated as co-conspirators with Defendants in the offenses alleged in this Complaint, and have performed acts and made statements in furtherance of the conspiracy or in furtherance of the anticompetitive conduct.

Whenever in this Complaint reference is made to any act, deed or transaction of any corporation or limited liability entity, the allegation means that the corporation or limited liability entity engaged in the act, deed or transaction by or through its officers, directors, agents, employees or representatives while they were actively engaged in the management, direction, control or transaction of the corporation's or limited liability entity's business or affairs.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

A. The Body Sealings Industry

86. Body Sealings are rubber automotive component parts that seal doors, hoods, and other automotive compartments. Body Sealings prevent weather, wind and debris from entering the Vehicle and also help control vibration in the Vehicle.

87. A diagram below, from Nishikawa's website, shows various Body Sealings products manufactured and offered for sale by Nishikawa:

■ TOP > Introduction of Product Range > Automotive-related products > Sedan type

Please click each product description to view it.

(https://www.nishikawa-rbr.co.jp/english/product_car_sedn.php, last visited December 1, 2015).

88. Body Sealings are installed by Vehicle original equipment manufacturers (“OEMs”) in Vehicles as part of the automotive manufacturing process.

89. For Vehicles, the OEMs – mostly large automotive manufacturers such as Honda, Toyota, Subaru, etc. – purchase Body Sealings directly from Defendants.

90. When purchasing Body Sealings, OEMs issue Requests for Quotation (“RFQs”) to automotive parts suppliers on a model-by-model basis for model specific parts. Automotive parts suppliers submit quotations, or bids, to OEMs in response to RFQs, and the OEMs usually award the business to the selected automotive parts supplier for the lifespan of the model, which is usually four to six years. Typically, the bidding process for a particular model begins approximately three years prior to the start of production of a new model. OEMs procure Body Sealings and other parts for U.S.-manufactured Vehicles in the United States and elsewhere.

91. Defendants and their co-conspirators supplied Body Sealings to OEMs for installation in Vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States and elsewhere. Defendants and their co-conspirators manufactured Body Sealings (a) in the United States for installation in Vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States, (b) in the United States for installation in Vehicles manufactured in Canada and Mexico, some of which were then delivered to and sold in the United States, and (c) in Japan for installation in Vehicles manufactured in Japan, some of which were then delivered to and sold in the United States.

92. Plaintiffs and members of the proposed Classes purchased Body Sealings indirectly from one or more of the Defendants. By way of example, an owner or lessee of a Vehicle may indirectly purchase one or more Body Sealing(s) from the Defendants or their co-conspirators as part of purchasing or leasing the Vehicle.

B. The Structure and Characteristics of the Body Sealings Market Render the Conspiracy More Plausible

93. The Body Sealings market in the United States is conducive to a price-fixing agreement and has made collusion particularly attractive in this market because of its structure and other characteristics. Specifically, the Body Sealings market: (1) has high barriers to entry; and (2) has inelasticity of demand.

1. The Body Sealings Market Has High Barriers to Entry

94. A collusive arrangement that raises product prices above competitive levels would, under basic economic principles, attract new entrants seeking to benefit from the supra-competitive pricing. Where, however, there are significant barriers to entry, new entrants are less likely to enter the market. Thus, barriers to entry help to facilitate the formation and maintenance of a cartel.

95. There are substantial barriers that preclude, reduce, or make more difficult entry into the Body Sealings market. A new entrant into the business would face costly and lengthy start-up costs, including multi-million dollar costs associated with manufacturing plants and equipment, energy, transportation, distribution infrastructure, skilled labor, and long-standing customer relationships.

96. In addition, OEMs cannot change Body Sealings suppliers randomly after a supplier is initially selected because the OEMs design the features of their Vehicles so that the Body Sealings they purchase for a Vehicle are then integrated with the other components of the particular Vehicle model. Thus, manufacturers of Body Sealings and OEMs must agree on a design that is unique to a particular Vehicle model. It would be difficult for a new market entrant to do so.

2. There is Inelasticity of Demand for Body Sealings

97. “Elasticity” is a term used to describe the sensitivity of supply and demand to changes in one or the other. For example, demand is said to be “inelastic” if an increase in the price of a product results in only a small decline in the quantity sold of that product, if any. In other words, customers have nowhere to turn for alternative, cheaper products of similar quality, and so continue to purchase despite a price increase.

98. For a cartel to profit from raising prices above competitive levels, demand must be relatively inelastic at competitive prices. Otherwise, increased prices would result in declining sales, revenues, and profits, as customers purchased substitute products or declined to buy altogether. Inelastic demand is a market characteristic that facilitates collusion, allowing producers to raise their prices without triggering customer substitution and lost sales revenue.

99. Demand for Body Sealings is highly inelastic because there are no close substitutes for these products. In addition, customers must purchase Body Sealings as an essential part of a Vehicle, even if the prices are kept at a supra-competitive level.

C. Government Investigations

100. A globally coordinated antitrust investigation is taking place in the United States, Europe, Canada, and Japan, aimed at suppliers of automotive parts in general, and Body Sealings in particular. A Japan Fair Trade Commission (“JFTC”) official told a leading legal publication that the international automotive parts supplier investigation would continue to widen because the automotive industry as a whole comprises many sub-industries. He characterized the investigation being conducted by international antitrust authorities as “large and broad,” and he declined to deny that this “would be history’s largest case.”

101. The antitrust probe originated in Europe as the result of several European OEMs coming together to bring a complaint to the EC. The EC and the FBI have executed surprise raids at the European and U.S. offices of several automotive parts manufacturers as part of an investigation into anticompetitive conduct related to the manufacturing and sale of automotive parts.

102. On February 8, 2010, the EC executed surprise raids at the European offices of certain automotive parts makers. The DOJ has confirmed that its automotive parts investigation is the largest criminal investigation that the Antitrust Division has ever pursued, both in terms of its scope and the potential volume of commerce affected by the illegal conduct. To date, as a result of its wide spread investigation, the DOJ has charged over 100 individuals and entities with criminal antitrust violations and levied more than $2.8 billion in criminal fines against various automotive parts manufacturers.

D. Executives of Nishikawa, NISCO and/or Nishikawa Cooper are Indicted for Criminal Antitrust Violations and One Executive Pleads Guilty to the Charges

103. On October 8, 2015, the DOJ announced that Keiji Kyomoto, Mikio Katsumaru, and Yuji Kuroda, employees of Nishikawa Rubber, NISCO and/or Nishikawa Copper, were indicted by a federal grand jury for conspiracy to rig bids and fix prices of Body Sealings sold to Honda, Toyota, and certain of their subsidiaries and affiliates for installation in Vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States and elsewhere. According to the indictment, Kyomoto, Katsumaru and Kuroda engaged in conspiracy to suppress competition in the automotive parts industry from at least as early as September 2003 through at least October 2011 in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.¹

104. According to the indictment, Kyomoto, a resident of the United States, was employed as Vice President of NISCO and/or Nishikawa Cooper from at least as early as September 2003 until in or about April 2004, and as President of NISCO and/or Nishikawa Cooper from in or about April 2004 until at least October 2011. Pursuant to his managerial role at NISCO and/or Nishikawa Cooper during that time, Kyomoto instructed and encouraged certain of NISCO and/or Nishikawa Cooper's employees, directly or indirectly, to communicate with co-conspirators at other companies in order to allocate sales of, rig bids for, and fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of Body Sealings. Moreover, Kyomoto was aware that certain employees engaged in such communications, and Kyomoto condoned those communications. Further, Kyomoto attended meetings in the United States with co-conspirators at another company during which Kyomoto and co-conspirators discussed and reached agreements regarding sales of Body Sealings to be sold to Automobile Manufacturers in the United States.

105. According to the indictment, Katsumaru, a resident of Japan, was employed by Nishikawa Rubber in the following positions: (1) sales branch manager and Deputy Manager of the Sales and Marketing Division from at least as early as September 2003 until in or about July 2005; (2) Sales General Manager of the Automotive Division from in or about July 2005 until in or about March 2008; and (3) Manager of the Sales and Marketing Division from in or about March 2008 until at least October 2011. Katsumaru also served as a Director of Nishikawa Rubber from at least as early as September 2003 until in or about March 2008, and a Managing Director of Nishikawa Rubber from in or about March 2008 until at least October 2011. Pursuant to his managerial role at Nishikawa Rubber during that time, Katsumaru instructed and encouraged certain of Nishikawa Rubber's employees, directly and indirectly, to communicate with co-conspirators at other companies in order to allocate sales of, rig bids for, and fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of Body Sealings. Moreover, Katsumaru was aware that certain employees engaged in such communications, and Katsumaru condoned those communications. The indictment further charges that Katsumaru instructed and encouraged certain of Nishikawa Rubber's employees to destroy evidence of the criminal antitrust conspiracy.

106. According to the indictment, Kuroda, a resident of Japan, was employed by Nishikawa Rubber as a sales branch manager from at least as early as September 2003 until at least October 2011. Pursuant to his managerial role at Nishikawa Rubber during that time, Kuroda instructed and encouraged certain of Nishikawa Rubber's employees, directly and indirectly, to communicate with co-conspirators at other companies in order to allocate sales of, rig bids for, and fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of Body Sealings. Moreover, Kuroda was aware that certain employees engaged in such communications, and Kuroda condoned those communications. The indictment further charges that Kuroda instructed and encouraged certain of Nishikawa Rubber's employees to destroy evidence of the conspiracy.

107. According to the indictment, Kyomoto, Katsumaru, Kuroda and their co-conspirators carried out the Body Sealings conspiracy by:

- (a) participating in, and directing, authorizing and consenting to the participation of subordinate employees in, meetings, conversations, and communications with employees of competitor companies to discuss the bids and price quotations to be submitted to Honda, Toyota and certain of their subsidiaries and affiliates (collectively, "Automobile Manufacturers") in the United States and elsewhere;
- (b) in such meetings, conversations, and communications with employees of competitor companies, agreeing on, exchanging information on, directing, authorizing and consenting to subordinate employees agreeing on and exchanging information on, bids, price quotations, and price adjustments to be submitted to Automobile Manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

Automobile Manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere, in accordance with their agreements with employees of competitor companies;

(e) selling automotive body sealing products to Automobile Manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere at collusive and noncompetitive prices;

(f) accepting payment for automotive body sealing products sold to Automobile Manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere at collusive and noncompetitive prices; and

(g) employing measures to conceal their conduct, including, but not limited to, using code when referring to co-conspirator companies, meeting at restaurants, directing subordinates to destroy evidence, and destroying evidence of the conspiracy.

108. Thereafter, on April 20, 2016, the DOJ announced that Kyomoto, the former Vice President of NISCO and/or Nishikawa Cooper and former President of NISCO and/or Nishikawa Cooper, agreed to plead guilty to the charges asserted in the indictment, serve 18 months in a U.S. prison and pay a $20,000 criminal fine.

E. Nishikawa Rubber Pleads Guilty to a Criminal Antitrust Violation

109. On July 20, 2016, the DOJ announced that Nishikawa Rubber agreed to plead guilty to the charges filed against it in a criminal information and pay a $130 million criminal fine for its participation in a criminal antitrust conspiracy to suppress competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of Body Sealings sold to Honda, Toyota, Subaru and certain of their subsidiaries and affiliates for installation in Vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States and elsewhere from at

(g) employing measures to conceal their conduct, including, but not limited to, using code in e-mails and instructing co-conspirators to delete documents referencing coordination with competitors.

E. Tokai Kogyo, Green Tokai, and a Tokai Kogyo Executive are Indicted for Criminal Antitrust Violations

111. On June 15, 2016, the DOJ announced that Tokai Kogyo, Green Tokai, and Akitada Tazumi, an employee of Tokai Kogyo, were indicted by a federal grand jury for entering into and engaging in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate sales of, to rig bids for, and to fix stabilize and maintain the prices of Body Sealings sold to Honda in the United States and elsewhere from at least as early as March 2008 and continuing until at least August 2011 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

112. According to the indictment, Tazumi, a resident of Japan, was employed as Assistant General Manager of Tokai Kogyo from at least as early as March 2008 until at least August 2011.

113. According to the indictment, Tokai Kogyo, Green Tokai, Tazumi, and their co-conspirators carried out the Body Sealings conspiracy by:

- (a) participating in meetings, conversations, and communications in the United States and elsewhere to discuss the allocation of sales of Body Sealings to Honda, and the bids and price quotations that they would submit to Honda in the United States and elsewhere;
- (b) agreeing during those meetings, conversations, and communications on prices, bids, and price adjustments for Body Sealings sold to Honda in the

The indictment further alleges that substantial quantities of equipment and supplies necessary to the production and distribution of Body Sealings manufactured and sold by the Tokai Defendants and their co-conspirators traveled in interstate and import trade and commerce.

D. Likely Existence of a Cooperating Defendant

115. The Antitrust Criminal Penalty Enhancement and Reform Act (“ACPERA”) provides leniency benefits for a participant in a price-fixing conspiracy that voluntarily discloses its conduct to the DOJ. In most recent cases in which guilty pleas for price-fixing conduct have been obtained, there has been a cooperating party that has been accepted into the DOJ’s ACPERA program as an “amnesty applicant.” One of the leniency benefits for a conspirator that is accepted into the ACPERA program is that it is not charged with a criminal offense and is not required to plead guilty to criminal charges.

116. In light of the multiple indictments and guilty plea in this case, multiple guilty pleas in related automotive parts antitrust cases and the DOJ’s ongoing investigation into the industry, it is reasonable for this Court to infer that there is an ACPERA “amnesty applicant” in this case.

E. Additional Criminal Pleadings in the Automotive Parts Industry

117. On September 29, 2011, the DOJ announced that Furukawa Electric Co. Ltd. had agreed to plead guilty and pay a $200 million criminal fine for its role in a criminal price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy involving the sale of automotive wire harnesses and related products to automobile manufacturers.

118. In the press release announcing the fine against Furukawa Electric Co. Ltd., Sharis A. Pozen, then the Acting Assistant Attorney General in charge of the DOJ’s Antitrust Division, said that “[a]s a result of this international price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy, automobile manufacturers paid noncompetitive and higher prices for parts in cars sold to U.S. consumers.” Ms. Pozen also stated that “[t]his cartel harmed an important industry in our nation's economy, and the Antitrust Division with the Federal Bureau of Investigation will continue to work together to ensure that these kinds of conspiracies are stopped." The press release also quoted FBI's Special Agent in Charge Andrew G. Arena, who said that "[w]hen companies partner to control and price fix bids or contracts, it undermines the foundation of the United States' economic system," and that "[t]he FBI is committed to aggressively pursuing any company involved in antitrust crimes."

119. On January 30, 2012, the DOJ announced that Yazaki Corporation agreed to plead guilty and to pay a $470 million criminal fine and DENSO Corporation agreed to plead guilty and pay a $78 million criminal fine for their respective involvement in multiple price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracies in the sale of automotive parts to automobile manufacturers in the United States. According to the three-count criminal Information filed against Yazaki, it engaged in three separate conspiracies: (i) to rig bids for and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, automotive wire harnesses and related products sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere; (ii) to rig bids for and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, instrument panel clusters ("PCPs") sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere; and (iii) to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of fuel senders sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere. According to the two-count felony charge against DENSO Corporation, it engaged in conspiracies to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of electronic control units ("ECUs") and heater control panels ("HCPs") sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere.

120. In the press release announcing the fines against Yazaki Corporation, its executives, and DENSO Corporation, Ms. Pozen vowed to continue the investigation into "pernicious cartel conduct that results in higher prices to American consumers . . ." In the same press release, Special Agent in Charge Andrew G. Arena said that “[t]his criminal activity has a significant impact on the automotive manufacturers in the United States, Canada, Japan and Europe and has been occurring for at least a decade. The conduct has also affected commerce on a global scale in almost every market where automobiles are manufactured and/or sold[.]”

121. Ms. Pozen said there is no doubt consumers were hurt financially by the automotive wire harness price-fixing conspiracy. She stated: “By rigging bids on wiring harnesses . . . the three companies inflated what some of their auto manufacturer clients paid, and indirectly, what consumers paid for some cars.”

122. On April 3, 2012, the DOJ announced that G.S. Electech Inc. agreed to plead guilty and to pay a $2.75 million criminal fine for its role in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, speed sensor wire assemblies used on antilock brake systems sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere.

127. On October 30, 2012, the DOJ announced that Tokai Rika Co. Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $17.7 million criminal fine for its involvement in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, HCPs sold to Toyota Motor Corporation and Toyota Motor Engineering & Manufacturing North America, Inc. in the United States and elsewhere. He stated “[t]hese international price-fixing conspiracies affected more than $5 billion in automotive parts sold to U.S. car manufacturers. In total, more than 25 million cars purchased by American consumers were affected by the illegal conduct.” Then Attorney General Holder also described how the conspiracies worked: “[c]ompany executives met face to face in the United States and Japan – and talked on the phone – to reach collusive agreements to rig bids, fix prices and allocate the supply of auto parts sold to U.S. car companies. In order to keep their illegal conduct secret, they used code names and met in remote locations. Then they followed up with each other regularly to make sure the collusive agreements were being adhered to.” Then Attorney General Holder explained that the automotive parts conspiracies “targeted U.S. manufacturing, U.S. businesses and U.S. consumers. As a result of these conspiracies, Americans paid more for their cars.”

All persons and entities who, during the Class Period, purchased or leased a new Vehicle in the Indirect Purchaser States² not for resale which included one or more Body Sealing (s) as a component part, which were manufactured or sold by a Defendant, any current or former subsidiary of a Defendant or any co-conspirator of the Defendants.

163. The Nationwide Class and the Damages Class are referred to herein as the “Classes.” Excluded from the Classes are Defendants, their parent companies, subsidiaries and affiliates, any co-conspirators, federal governmental entities and instrumentalities of the federal government, states and their subdivisions, agencies and instrumentalities, and persons who purchased Body Sealings directly or for resale.

164. While Plaintiffs do not know the exact number of the members of the Classes, Plaintiffs believe there are (at least) thousands of members in each Class.

165. Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Classes. This is particularly true given the nature of Defendants’ conspiracy, which was generally applicable to all the members of both Classes, thereby making appropriate relief with respect to the Classes as a whole. Such questions of law and fact common to the Classes include, but are not limited to:

² The Indirect Purchaser States are the states listed in the Second and Third Claims for Relief.

- a) Whether Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a combination and conspiracy among themselves to fix, raise, maintain or stabilize the prices of Body Sealings sold in the United States;
- b) The identity of the participants of the alleged conspiracy;
- c) The duration of the alleged conspiracy and the acts carried out by Defendants and their co-conspirators in furtherance of the conspiracy;
- d) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated the Sherman Act, as alleged in the First Claim for Relief;
- e) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated state antitrust, unfair competition, and/or consumer protection laws, as alleged in the Second and Third Claims for Relief;
- f) Whether Defendants unjustly enriched themselves to the detriment of the Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, thereby entitling Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes to disgorgement of all benefits derived by Defendants, as alleged in the Fourth Claim for Relief;
- g) Whether the conduct of Defendants and their co-conspirators, as alleged in this Complaint, caused injury to the business or property of Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;
- h) The effect of the alleged conspiracy on the prices of Body Sealings sold in the United States during the Class Period;
- i) Whether Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had any reason to know or suspect the conspiracy, or any means to discover the conspiracy;
- j) Whether Defendants and their co-conspirators fraudulently concealed the conspiracy's existence from Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;

k) The appropriate injunctive and related equitable relief for the Nationwide Class; and

l) The appropriate class-wide measure of damages for the Damages Class.

166. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the members of the Classes, and Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Classes. Plaintiffs and all members of the Classes are similarly affected by the Defendants' wrongful conduct in that they paid artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings purchased indirectly from Defendants and/or their co-conspirators.

167. Plaintiffs' claims arise out of the same common course of conduct giving rise to the claims of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs' interests are coincident with, and not antagonistic to, those of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs are represented by counsel who are competent and experienced in the prosecution of antitrust and class action litigation.

168. The questions of law and fact common to the members of the Classes predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, including legal and factual issues relating to liability and damages.

169. Class action treatment is a superior method for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy, in that, among other things, such treatment will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single forum simultaneously, efficiently and without the unnecessary duplication of evidence, effort and expense that numerous individual actions would engender. The benefits of proceeding through the class mechanism, including providing injured persons or entities with a method for obtaining redress for claims that might not be practicable to pursue individually, substantially outweigh any difficulties that may arise in the management of this class action.

170. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Classes would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants.

PLAINTIFFS AND THE CLASSES SUFFERED ANTITRUST INJURY

171. Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy had the following effects, among others:

- (a) Price competition has been restrained or eliminated with respect to Body Sealings;
- (b) The prices of Body Sealings have been fixed, raised, maintained, or stabilized at artificially inflated levels;
- (c) Indirect purchasers of Body Sealings have been deprived of free and open competition; and
- (d) Indirect purchasers of Body Sealings paid artificially inflated prices.

172. During the Class Period, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes paid supra-competitive prices for Body Sealings. OEMS and automotive dealers passed on inflated prices to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes. Those overcharges have unjustly enriched Defendants.

173. The markets for Body Sealings and Vehicles are inextricably linked and intertwined because the market for Body Sealings exists to serve the Vehicle market. Without the Vehicles, the Body Sealings have little to no value because they have no independent utility. Indeed, the demand for Vehicles creates the demand for Body Sealings. As stated in the 2010 Annual Report of Lear Corporation, an automotive parts supplier: "Our sales are driven by the number of vehicles produced by the automotive manufacturers, which is ultimately dependent on consumer and fleet demand for automotive vehicles."

174. Body Sealings are identifiable, discrete physical products that remain essentially unchanged when incorporated into a Vehicle. As a result, Body Sealings follow a traceable physical chain of distribution from the Defendants to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, and any cost changes attributable to Body Sealings can be traced through the chain of distribution to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes.

175. Just as Body Sealings can be physically traced through the supply chain, so can their price be traced to show that changes in the prices paid by direct purchasers of Body Sealings affect prices paid by indirect purchasers of Vehicles containing Body Sealings.

176. While even a monopolist would increase its prices when the cost of its inputs increased, the economic necessity of passing through cost changes increases with the degree of competition a firm faces. The OEM and dealer markets for Vehicles are subject to vigorous price competition. The OEMs and Vehicle dealers have thin net margins, and are therefore at the mercy of their component costs, such that increases in the price of components such as Body Sealings lead to corresponding increases in prices for Vehicles at the OEM and dealer levels. When downstream distribution markets are highly competitive, as they are in the case of Vehicles containing Body Sealings as components, overcharges are passed through to ultimate consumers, such as the indirect-purchaser Plaintiffs and members of the Classes.

177. Hence the inflated prices of Body Sealings in Vehicles resulting from Defendants' and their co-conspirators' bid-rigging and price-fixing conspiracy have been passed on to Plaintiffs and the other members of the Classes by OEMs and dealers.

178. The economic and legal literature has recognized that unlawful overcharges in a component normally result in higher prices for products containing that price-fixed component. Two antitrust scholars – Professors Robert G. Harris (Professor Emeritus and former Chair of the Business and Public Policy Group at the Haas School of Business at the University of California at Berkeley) and the late Lawrence A. Sullivan (Professor of Law Emeritus at Southwestern Law

School and author of the Handbook of the Law of Antitrust) – have observed that “in a multiple-level chain of distribution, passing on monopoly overcharges is not the exception: it is the rule.”³

179. As Professor Jeffrey K. MacKie-Mason (Arthur W. Burks Professor for Information and Computer Science and Professor of Economics and Public Policy at the University of Michigan), an expert who presented evidence in a number of the indirect purchaser cases involving Microsoft Corporation, said (in a passage quoted in the judicial decision in that case granting class certification):

As is well known in economic theory and practice, at least some of the overcharge will be passed on by distributors to end consumers. When the distribution markets are highly competitive, as they are here, all or nearly the entire overcharge will be passed on through to ultimate consumers...Both of Microsoft's experts also agree upon the economic phenomenon of cost pass through, and how it works in competitive markets. This general phenomenon of cost pass through is well established in antitrust laws and economics as well.⁴

180. The purpose of the conspiratorial conduct of Defendants and their co-conspirators was to raise, fix, rig or stabilize the price of Body Sealings and, as a direct and foreseeable result, the price of Vehicles containing Body Sealings. Economists have developed techniques to isolate and understand the relationship between one “explanatory” variable and a “dependent” variable in those cases when changes in the dependent variable are explained by changes in a multitude of variables, even when all such variables may be changing simultaneously. That analysis - called regression analysis - is commonly used in the real world and in litigation to determine the impact of a price increase on one cost in a product (or service) that is an assemblage of costs. Thus, it is possible to isolate and identify only the impact of an increase in the price of Body Sealings on prices for Vehicles even though such products contain a number of other components whose prices may be changing over time. A regression model can explain how variation in the price of Body Sealings affects changes in the price of Vehicles. In such models, the price of Body Sealings would be treated as an independent or explanatory variable. The model can isolate how changes in the price of Body Sealings impact the price of Vehicles containing Body Sealings while controlling for the impact of other price-determining factors.

181. The precise amount of the overcharge impacting the prices of Vehicles containing Body Sealings can be measured and quantified. Commonly used and well-accepted economic models can be used to measure both the extent and the amount of the supra-competitive charge passed through the chain of distribution. Thus, the economic harm to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes can be quantified.

182. In addition to the regression analysis discussed above demonstrating impact on consumers, the DOJ's Antitrust Division, which has been investigating this cartel for some time, has concluded that there is “no doubt” that consumers were hurt financially. Sharis A. Pozen, then Acting Assistant Attorney General in charge of the DOJ's Antitrust Division said: “By rigging bids . . . [automotive parts manufacturers engaged in a price-fixing conspiracy] inflated what some of their auto manufacturing clients paid, and indirectly, what consumers paid for some cars.” She also explained that “[a]s a result of this international price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy, automobile manufacturers paid noncompetitive and higher prices for parts in cars sold to U.S. consumers.” Ms. Pozen also stated that “[t]his cartel harmed an important industry in our nation’s economy, and the Antitrust Division with the Federal Bureau of Investigation will continue to work together to ensure that these kinds of conspiracies are stopped.” In a separate press statement, Ms. Pozen vowed to continue the investigation into “pernicious cartel conduct that results in higher prices to American consumers . . .”

183. On February 15, 2013, Scott Hammond, the Deputy Assistant Attorney General in the DOJ’s Antitrust Division, discussed the DOJ’s ongoing automotive parts investigation in a Thomson Reuters article. He said “[t]he investigation is broader than what we’ve announced so far . . . [The investigation] is still very much ongoing, but it already appears to be the biggest criminal antitrust investigation that we’ve ever encountered. I say the biggest with respect to the impact on U.S. businesses and consumers, and the number of companies and executives that are subject to the investigation.” (emphasis added).

184. On September 26, 2013, then United States Attorney General Eric Holder in the Antitrust Division presented the DOJ’s then most recent findings in the ongoing automotive parts investigation. He stated “[t]hese international price fixing conspiracies affected more than $5 billion in automobile parts sold to U.S. car manufacturers. In total, more than 24 million cars purchased by American consumers were affected by the illegal conduct.” Then Attorney General Holder also described how the conspiracies worked: “[c]ompany executives met face to face in the United States and Japan – and talked on the phone – to reach collusive agreements to rig bids, fix prices and allocate the supply of automotive parts sold to U.S. car companies. To keep their illegal conduct secret, they used code names and met in remote locations. Then they followed up with each other regularly to make sure the collusive agreements were being adhered to.” Then Attorney General Holder explained that the automotive parts conspiracies “targeted U.S. manufacturing, U.S. businesses and U.S. consumers. As a result of these conspiracies, Americans paid more for their cars.”

185. On May 25, 2014, news sources reported that Brent Snyder, a deputy assistant attorney general in the Antitrust Division, said with respect to the automotive parts conspiracies, “[i]t’s a very, very safe assumption that U.S. consumers paid more, and sometimes significantly more, for their automobiles as a result of this conspiracy.”

186. By reason of the violations of the antitrust and consumer protection laws alleged herein, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes have sustained injury to their businesses or property, having paid higher prices for Body Sealings than they would have paid in the absence of Defendants’ and their co-conspirators’ illegal contract, combination, or conspiracy, and, as a result, have suffered damages in an amount presently undetermined. This is an antitrust injury of the type that the antitrust laws were meant to punish and prevent.

PLAINTIFFS’ CLAIMS ARE NOT BARRED BY THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

A. The Statute of Limitations Did Not Begin to Run Because Plaintiffs Did Not And Could Not Discover Their Claims

187. Plaintiffs repeat and re-allege the allegations set forth above.

188. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had no knowledge of the combination or conspiracy alleged herein, or of facts sufficient to place them on inquiry notice of the claims set forth herein, until (at the earliest) October 8, 2015, the date that the DOJ publicly announced a federal grand jury returned an indictment against Kyomoto, Katsumaru, and Kuroda, employees of Nishikawa Rubber, NISCO and/or Nishikawa Copper, for conspiracy to rig bids and fix the prices of Body Sealings.⁵

189. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes are consumers who purchased or leased Vehicles containing Body Sealings. They had no direct contact or interaction with Defendants and had no means from which they could have discovered the combination and conspiracy described in this Complaint before October 8, 2015.

190. No information in the public domain was available to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes concerning the combination or conspiracy alleged herein prior to October 8, 2015 that revealed sufficient information to suggest that the Defendants were involved in a criminal conspiracy to fix the prices of and rig bids for Body Sealings. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had no means of obtaining any facts or information concerning any aspect of Defendants' dealings with OEMs or other direct purchasers, much less the fact that they and their co-conspirators had engaged in the combination and conspiracy alleged herein.

191. For these reasons, the statute of limitations as to Plaintiffs' and the Classes' claims did not begin to run, and has been tolled with respect to the claims that Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes have alleged in this Complaint.

B. Fraudulent Concealment Tolled the Statute of Limitations

192. In the alternative, application of the doctrine of fraudulent concealment tolled the statute of limitations on the claims asserted herein by Plaintiffs and the Classes. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes did not discover, and could not discover through the exercise of reasonable diligence, the existence of the conspiracy alleged herein until October 8, 2015, the date that the DOJ publicly announced a federal grand jury returned an indictment against revealed sufficient information to suggest that the Tokai Defendants were involved in the combination or conspiracy alleged herein. Therefore, the statute of limitations did not begin to run because Plaintiffs and members of the Classes did not and could not discover their claims, or in the alternative, because fraudulent concealment tolled the statute of limitations, until June 15, 2016 with respect to the Tokai Defendants.

Kyomoto, Katsumaru, and Kuroda, employees of Nishikawa Rubber, NISCO and/or Nishikawa Copper, for conspiracy to rig bids and fix the prices of Body Sealings.⁶

193. Before that time, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes were unaware of the Defendants' unlawful conduct, and did not know before then that they were paying supra-competitive prices for Body Sealings throughout the United States during the Class Period. No information, actual or constructive, was ever made available to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes that even hinted to Plaintiffs that they were being injured by Defendants' unlawful conduct.

194. The affirmative acts of Defendants alleged herein, including acts in furtherance of the conspiracy, were wrongfully concealed and carried out in a manner that precluded detection.

195. Specifically, as then Attorney General Holder explained in connection with the DOJ's globally coordinated investigation into price-fixing in the Automotive parts industry, “[i]n order to keep their illegal conduct secret, [Defendants] used code names and met in remote locations.”

196. By its very nature, Defendants and their co-conspirators' anticompetitive conspiracy and unlawful combination was inherently self-concealing. Body Sealings are not exempt from antitrust regulation, and thus, before October 8, 2015 Plaintiffs and members of the Classes reasonably considered the Body Sealings industry to be a competitive industry. Defendants met and communicated in secret and agreed to keep the facts about their collusive conduct from being discovered by any member of the public or by the OEMs and other direct purchasers with whom they did business. Accordingly, a reasonable person under the circumstances would not have been alerted to begin to investigate the legitimacy of the Defendants' Body Sealing prices before October 8, 2015.

197. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes could not have discovered the alleged contract, conspiracy or combination at an earlier date by the exercise of reasonable diligence because of the deceptive practices and techniques of secrecy employed by the Defendants and their co-conspirators to avoid detection of, and fraudulently conceal, their contract, combination, or conspiracy.

198. Throughout the course of the conspiracy, Defendants met and communicated in secret to conceal their conspiracy from the public and avoid detection thereof. Above and beyond their acts in furtherance of the conspiracy, such as acts of bid rigging, Defendants engaged in surreptitious activity such as using code names and meeting at private residences or remote locations. The conspirators also coordinated their pricing in a manner to avoid detection by the OEMs. The exact dates and times of these meetings are within the knowledge of Defendants, including those Defendants who have pleaded guilty to criminal violations of the Sherman Act.

199. Moreover, according to the indictments filed against the Defendants, they, their employees and their co-conspirators destroyed evidence of the criminal antitrust conspiracy alleged herein. Katsumaru and Kuroda, employees of Nishikawa Rubber, instructed and encouraged certain of Nishikawa Rubber's employees to destroy evidence of the criminal antitrust conspiracy. Nishikawa Rubber itself agreed to plead guilty to the indictment filed against it, which charged Nishikawa Rubber with, among other things, employing measures to conceal its conduct, including instructing co-conspirators to delete documents referencing coordination with competitors. Similarly, the Tokai Defendants were charged with employing measures to conceal their conduct, including instructing co-conspirators to delete documents referencing coordination with competitors.

200. Because the alleged conspiracy was both self-concealing and affirmatively concealed by Defendants and their co-conspirators, Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had no knowledge of the alleged conspiracy, or of any facts or information that would have caused a reasonably diligent person to investigate whether a conspiracy existed, until October 8, 2015.

201. For these reasons, the statute of limitations applicable to Plaintiffs' and the Classes' claims was tolled and did not begin to run until October 8, 2015.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Nationwide Class)

202. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

203. Defendants and unnamed co-conspirators entered into and engaged in a contract, combination, or conspiracy in unreasonable restraint of trade in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1).

204. The acts done by each of the Defendants as part of, and in furtherance of, their and their co-conspirators' contract, combination, or conspiracy were authorized, ordered, or done by their officers, agents, employees, or representatives while actively engaged in the management of their affairs.

205. During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into a continuing agreement, understanding and conspiracy in restraint of trade to artificially fix, raise, stabilize, and control prices for Body Sealings, thereby creating anticompetitive effects.

206. The anticompetitive acts were intentionally directed at the United States market for Body Sealings and had a substantial and foreseeable effect on interstate commerce by raising and fixing prices for Body Sealings throughout the United States.

207. The conspiratorial acts and combinations have caused unreasonable restraints in the market for Body Sealings

208. As a result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and other similarly situated indirect purchasers in the Nationwide Class who purchased Body Sealings have been harmed by being forced to pay inflated, supra-competitive prices for Body Sealings.

209. In formulating and carrying out the alleged agreement, understanding and conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators did those things that they combined and conspired to do, including but not limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth herein.

210. Defendants' and their co-conspirators' conspiracy had the following effects, among others:

- (a) Price competition in the market for Body Sealings has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated in the United States;
- (b) Prices for Body Sealings sold by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high, non-competitive levels throughout the United States; and
- (c) Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class who purchased Body Sealings indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefits of free and open competition.

211. Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class have been injured and will continue to be injured in their business and property by paying more for Body Sealings purchased indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators than they would have paid and will pay in the absence of the conspiracy.

212. The alleged contract, combination, or conspiracy is a per se violation of the federal antitrust laws.

213. Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class are entitled to an injunction against the Defendants, preventing and restraining the violations alleged herein.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of State Antitrust Statutes
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

214. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

215. During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a continuing contract, combination or conspiracy with respect to the sale of Body Sealings in unreasonable restraint of trade and commerce and in violation of the various state antitrust and other statutes set forth below.

216. The contract, combination, or conspiracy consisted of an agreement among the Defendants and their co-conspirators to fix, raise, inflate, stabilize, and/or maintain at artificially supra-competitive prices for Body Sealings and to allocate customers for Body Sealings in the United States.

217. In formulating and effectuating this conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators performed acts in furtherance of the combination and conspiracy, including:

- (a) participating in meetings and conversations among themselves in the United States and elsewhere during which they agreed to price Body Sealings at certain levels, and otherwise to fix, increase, inflate, maintain, or stabilize effective prices paid by Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class with respect to Body Sealings sold in the United States;

(b) allocating customers and markets for Body Sealings in the United States in furtherance of their agreements; and

(c) participating in meetings and conversations among themselves in the United States and elsewhere to implement, adhere to, and police the unlawful agreements they reached.

218. The Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in the actions described above for the purpose of carrying out their unlawful agreements to fix, maintain, increase, or stabilize prices and to allocate customers with respect to Body Sealings.

219. The Defendants' anticompetitive acts described above were knowing and willful and constitute violations or flagrant violations of the following state antitrust statutes.

220. The Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Arizona Revised Statutes, §§ 44-1401, et seq.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, the Defendants entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of Ariz. Rev. Stat. §§ 44-1401, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all forms of relief available under Ariz. Rev. Stat. §§ 44-1401, et seq.

221. The Defendants entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the California Business and Professions Code, §§ 16700, et seq.

(a) During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into and engaged in a continuing unlawful trust in restraint of the trade and commerce described above in violation of Section 16720, California Business and Professions Code. Defendants, each of them, have acted in violation of Section 16720 to fix, raise, stabilize, and maintain prices of, and allocate markets for, Body Sealings at supra-competitive levels.

(b) The aforesaid violations of Section 16720, California Business and Professions Code, consisted, without limitation, of a continuing unlawful trust and concert of action among the Defendants and their co-conspirators, the substantial terms of which were to fix, raise, maintain, and stabilize the prices of, and to allocate markets for, Body Sealings.

(c) For the purpose of forming and effectuating the unlawful trust, the Defendants and their co-conspirators have done those things which they combined and conspired to do, including but not limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth above and the following: (1) Fixing, raising, stabilizing, and pegging the price of Body Sealings; and (2) Allocating among themselves the production of Body Sealings.

(d) The combination and conspiracy alleged herein has had, inter alia, the following effects: (1) Price competition in the sale of Body Sealings has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated in the State of California; (2) Prices for Body Sealings sold by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, stabilized, and pegged at artificially high, non-competitive levels in the State of California and throughout the United States; and (3) Those who purchased Body Sealings directly or indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefit of free and open competition.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property in that they paid more for Body Sealings than they otherwise would have paid in the absence of Defendants' unlawful conduct. As a result of Defendants' violation of Section 16720 of the California Business and Professions Code, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek treble damages and their cost of suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee, pursuant to Section 16750(a) of the California Business and Professions Code.

222. The Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the District of Columbia Code Annotated §§ 28-4501, et seq.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of State Consumer Protection Statutes
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

246. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

247. The Defendants engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, deceptive or fraudulent acts or practices in violation of the state consumer protection and unfair competition statutes listed below.

248. Defendants have knowingly entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Arkansas Code Annotated, § 4-88-101, et seq.

- (a) Defendants knowingly agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining at non-competitive and artificially inflated levels, the prices at which Body Sealings were sold, distributed, or obtained in Arkansas and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.
- (b) The aforementioned conduct on the part of the Defendants constituted “unconscionable” and “deceptive” acts or practices in violation of Arkansas Code Annotated, § 4-88-107(a)(10).

249. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, deceptive or fraudulent acts or practices in violation of California Business and Professions Code § 17200, et seq.

- (a) During the Class Period, Defendants marketed, sold, or distributed Body Sealings in California, and committed and continue to commit acts of unfair competition, as defined by Sections 17200, et seq. of the California Business and Professions Code, by engaging in the acts and practices specified above.
- (b) This claim is instituted pursuant to Sections 17203 and 17204 of the California Business and Professions Code, to obtain restitution from Defendants for acts, as alleged herein, that violated Section 17200 of the California Business and Professions Code, commonly known as the Unfair Competition Law.
- (c) Defendants' conduct as alleged herein violated Section 17200. The acts, omissions, misrepresentations, practices and non-disclosures of Defendants, as alleged herein, constituted a common, continuous, and continuing course of conduct of unfair competition by means of unfair, unlawful, and/or fraudulent business acts or practices within the meaning of California Business and Professions Code, Section 17200, et seq., including, but not limited to, the following: (1) the violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, as set forth above; (2) the violations of Section 16720, et seq., of the California Business and Professions Code, set forth above;

- (d) Defendants' acts, omissions, misrepresentations, practices, and non-disclosures, as described above, whether or not in violation of Section 16720, et seq., of the California Business and Professions Code, and whether or not concerted or independent acts, are otherwise unfair, unconscionable, unlawful or fraudulent;

- (f) Defendants' acts and practices are fraudulent or deceptive within the meaning of Section 17200 of the California Business and Professions Code.
- (g) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class are entitled to full restitution and/or disgorgement of all revenues, earnings, profits, compensation, and benefits that may have been obtained by the Defendants as a result of such business acts or practices.
- (h) The illegal conduct alleged herein is continuing and there is no indication that the Defendants will not continue such activity into the future.
- (i) The unlawful and unfair business practices of the Defendants have caused and continue to cause Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class to pay supra-competitive and artificially-inflated prices for Body Sealings (or Vehicles containing them). Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class suffered injury in fact and lost money or property as a result of such unfair competition.
- (j) The conduct of the Defendants as alleged in this Complaint violates Section 17200 of the California Business and Professions Code.

(k) As alleged in this Complaint, the Defendants and their co-conspirators have been unjustly enriched as a result of their wrongful conduct and by the Defendants' unfair competition. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are accordingly entitled to equitable relief including restitution and/or disgorgement of all revenues, earnings, profits, compensation, and benefits that may have been obtained by the Defendants as a result of such business practices, pursuant to the California Business and Professions Code, Sections 17203 and 17204.

250. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of District of Columbia Code § 28-3901, et seq.

(a) Defendants and their co-conspirators agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and/or non-competitive levels, the prices at which Body Sealings were sold, distributed or obtained in the District of Columbia.

(b) The foregoing conduct constitutes "unlawful trade practices," within the meaning of D.C. Code § 28-3904. Plaintiffs were not aware of Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy and were therefore unaware that they were being unfairly and illegally overcharged. There was a gross disparity of bargaining power between the parties with respect to the price charged by Defendants for Body Sealings. Defendants had sole power to set that price and Plaintiffs had no power to negotiate a lower price. Moreover, Plaintiffs lacked any meaningful choice in purchasing Body Sealings because they were unaware of the unlawful overcharge and there was no alternative source of supply through which Plaintiffs could avoid the overcharges. Defendants' conduct with regard to sales of Body Sealings, including their illegal conspiracy to secretly fix the price of Body Sealings at supra-competitive levels and overcharge consumers, was substantively unconscionable because it was one-sided and unfairly benefited Defendants at the expense of Plaintiffs and the public. Defendants took grossly unfair advantage of Plaintiffs. The suppression of competition that has resulted from Defendants' conspiracy has ultimately resulted in unconscionably higher prices for consumers so that there was a gross disparity between the price paid and the value received for Body Sealing.

(c) The Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Body Sealing price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout the District of Columbia; (2) Body Sealing prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout the District of Columbia; (3) Plaintiffs and the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Body Sealing.

(d) As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of District of Columbia Code § 28-3901, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

251. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Florida Deceptive and Unfair Trade Practices Act, Fla. Stat. §§ 501.201, et seq.

- (b) During the Class Period, the Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected Florida commerce and consumers.

(d) The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Hawaii Rev. Stat. § 480, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

253. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Mass. G.L. c. 93A, § 2.

(a) Defendants were engaged in trade or commerce as defined by G.L. c. 93A.

(b) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a market which includes Massachusetts, by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Body

Sealings were sold, distributed, or obtained in Massachusetts and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Body Sealings price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Massachusetts; (2) Body Sealings prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Massachusetts; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings.

(d) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were injured and are threatened with further injury.

(e) Certain of the Defendants have or will be served with a demand letter in accordance with G.L. c. 93A, § 9, or, upon information and belief, such service of a demand letter was unnecessary due to the Defendants not maintaining a place of business within the Commonwealth of Massachusetts or not keeping assets within the Commonwealth. More than thirty days has passed since such demand letters were served, and each Defendant served has failed to make a reasonable settlement offer.

(f) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants engaged in unfair competition and unfair or deceptive acts or practices, in violation of G.L. c. 93A, § 2. Defendants' and their co-conspirators' violations of Chapter 93A were knowing or willful, entitling Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class to multiple damages.

254. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Missouri Merchandising Practices Act, Mo. Rev. Stat. § 407.010, et. seq.

- (a) Plaintiffs and members of this Damages Class purchased Body Sealings for personal, family, or household purposes.
- (b) Defendants engaged in the conduct described herein in connection with the sale of Body Sealings in trade or commerce in a market that includes Missouri.
- (c) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact affect, fix, control, and/or maintain, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Body Sealings were sold, distributed, or obtained in Missouri, which conduct constituted unfair practices in that it was unlawful under federal and state law, violated public policy, was unethical, oppressive and unscrupulous, and caused substantial injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.
- (d) Defendants concealed, suppressed, and omitted to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning Defendants' unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings. The concealed, suppressed, and omitted facts would have been important to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class as they related to the cost of Body Sealings they purchased.
- (e) Defendants misrepresented the real cause of price increases and/or the absence of price reductions in Body Sealings by making public statements that were not in accord with the facts.

(f) Defendants' statements and conduct concerning the price of Body Sealings were deceptive as they had the tendency or capacity to mislead Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class to believe that they were purchasing Body Sealings at prices established by a free and fair market.

(g) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Body Sealings price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Missouri; (2) Body Sealings prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Missouri; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings.

(h) The foregoing acts and practices constituted unlawful practices in violation of the Missouri Merchandising Practices Act.

(i) As a direct and proximate result of the above-described unlawful practices, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered ascertainable loss of money or property.

(j) Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under Missouri's Merchandising Practices Act, specifically Mo. Rev. Stat. § 407.020, which prohibits "the act, use or employment by any person of any deception, fraud, false pretense, false promise, misrepresentation, unfair practice or the concealment, suppression, or omission of any material fact in connection with the sale or advertisement of any merchandise in trade or commerce...," as further interpreted by the Missouri Code of State Regulations, 15 CSR 60-7.010, et seq., 15 CSR 60-8.010, et seq., and 15 CSR 60-9.010, et seq., and Mo. Rev. Stat. § 407.025, which provides for the relief sought in this count.

255. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Montana Consumer Protection Act of 1973, Mont. Code, §§ 30-14-101, et seq.

(a) The Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Body Sealing price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Montana; (2) Body Sealing prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Montana; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings.

(b) During the Class Period, the Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected Montana commerce and consumers.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury.

(d) The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Mont. Code, §§ 30-14-101, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

256. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the New Mexico Stat. § 57-12-1, et seq.

(a) The Defendants and their co-conspirators agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining at non-competitive and artificially inflated levels, the prices at which Body Sealings were sold, distributed or obtained in New Mexico and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(b) The aforementioned conduct on the part of Defendants constituted “unconscionable trade practices,” in violation of N.M.S.A. Stat. § 57-12-3, in that such conduct, inter alia, resulted in a gross disparity between the value received by Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class and the prices paid by them for Body Sealings as set forth in N.M.S.A., § 57-12-2E. Plaintiffs were not aware of Defendants’ price-fixing conspiracy and were therefore unaware that they were being unfairly and illegally overcharged. There was a gross disparity of bargaining power between the parties with respect to the price charged by Defendants for Body Sealings. Defendants had the sole power to set that price and Plaintiffs had no power to negotiate a lower price. Moreover, Plaintiffs lacked any meaningful choice in purchasing Body Sealings because they were unaware of the unlawful overcharge and there was no alternative source of supply through which Plaintiffs’ could avoid the overcharges. Defendants’ conduct with regard to sales of Body Sealings, including their illegal conspiracy to secretly fix the price of Body Sealings at supra-competitive levels and overcharge consumers, was substantively unconscionable because it was one-sided and unfairly benefited Defendants at the expense of Plaintiffs and the public. Defendants took grossly unfair advantage of Plaintiffs. The suppression of competition that has resulted from Defendants' conspiracy has ultimately resulted in unconscionably higher prices for consumers so that there was a gross disparity between the price paid and the value received for Body Sealings.

(c) The Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Body Sealing price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New Mexico; (2) Body Sealing prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New Mexico; (3) Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings.

(d) During the Class Period, the Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New Mexico commerce and consumers.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of the unlawful conduct of the Defendants, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury.

(f) The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of New Mexico Stat. § 57-12-1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

257. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, et seq.

(a) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Body Sealings were sold, distributed or obtained in New York and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(b) Defendants and their co-conspirators made public statements about the prices of Body Sealings and products containing Body Sealings that Defendants knew would be seen by New York consumers; such statements either omitted material information that rendered the statements that they made materially misleading or affirmatively misrepresented the real cause of price increases for Body Sealings and products containing Body Sealings; and Defendants alone possessed material information that was relevant to consumers, but failed to provide the information.

(c) Because of Defendants' unlawful trade practices in the State of New York, New York consumer class members who indirectly purchased Body Sealings were misled to believe that they were paying a fair price for Body Sealings or the price increases for Body Sealings were for valid business reasons; and similarly situated consumers were potentially affected by Defendants' conspiracy.

(d) Defendants knew that their unlawful trade practices with respect to pricing Body Sealings would have an impact on New York consumers and not just the Defendants' direct customers.

(e) Defendants knew that their unlawful trade practices with respect to pricing Body Sealings would have a broad impact, causing consumer class members who indirectly purchased Body Sealings to be injured by paying more for Body

Sealings than they would have paid in the absence of Defendants' unlawful trade acts and practices.

(f) The conduct of the Defendants described herein constitutes consumer-oriented deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, which resulted in consumer injury and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed the public interest of New York State in an honest marketplace in which economic activity is conducted in a competitive manner.

(g) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Body Sealings price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New York; (2) Body Sealings prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New York; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings.

(h) During the Class Period, Defendants' marketed, sold, or distributed Body Sealings in New York, and Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New York commerce and consumers.

(i) During the Class Period, each of the Defendants named herein, directly, or indirectly and through affiliates they dominated and controlled, manufactured, sold and/or distributed Body Sealings in New York.

(j) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349 (h).

258. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of North Carolina Gen. Stat. § 75-1.1, et seq.

- (a) The Defendants and their co-conspirators agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Body Sealings were sold, distributed or obtained in North Carolina and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.
- (b) Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy could not have succeeded absent deceptive conduct by Defendants to cover up their illegal acts. Secrecy was integral to the formation, implementation and maintenance of Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy. Defendants committed inherently deceptive and self-concealing actions, of which Plaintiffs could not possibly have been aware. Defendants and their co-conspirators publicly provided pre-textual and false justifications regarding their price increases. Defendants' public statements concerning the price of Body Sealings created the illusion of competitive pricing controlled by market forces rather than supra-competitive pricing driven by Defendants' illegal conspiracy. Moreover, Defendants deceptively concealed their unlawful activities by mutually agreeing not to divulge the existence of the conspiracy to outsiders, conducting meetings and conversations in secret, confining the plan to a small group of higher-level officials at each company and avoiding the creation of documents which would reveal the antitrust violations
- (c) The conduct of the Defendants described herein constitutes consumer-oriented deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of North Carolina law, which resulted in consumer injury and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed the public interest of North Carolina consumers in an honest marketplace in which economic activity is conducted in a competitive manner.

(d) The Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Body Sealing price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout North Carolina; (2) Body Sealing prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout North Carolina; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings.

(e) During the Class Period, Defendants' marketed, sold, or distributed Body Sealings in North Carolina, and Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected North Carolina commerce and consumers.

(f) During the Class Period, the Defendants directly, or indirectly and through affiliates they dominated and controlled, manufactured, sold and/or distributed Body Sealings in North Carolina.

(g) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek actual damages for their injuries caused by these violations in an amount to be determined at trial and are threatened with further injury. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of North Carolina Gen. Stat. § 75-1.1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

259. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Rhode Island Unfair Trade Practice and Consumer Protection Act, R.I. Gen. Laws §§ 6-13.1-1, et seq.

- (a) Members of this Damages Class purchased Body Sealings for personal, family, or household purposes.
- (b) Defendants and their co-conspirators agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a market that includes Rhode Island, by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Body Sealings were sold, distributed, or obtained in Rhode Island.
- (c) The Defendants deliberately failed to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning their unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings. The Defendants owed a duty to disclose such facts, and considering the relative lack of sophistication of the average, non-business consumer, they breached that duty by their silence. The Defendants misrepresented to all consumers during the Class Period that their Body Sealing prices were competitive and fair.
- (d) The Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Body Sealing price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Rhode Island; (2) Body Sealing prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Rhode Island; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' violations of law, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered an ascertainable loss of money or property as a result of the Defendants' use or employment of unconscionable and deceptive commercial practices as set forth above. That loss was caused by the Defendants' willful and deceptive conduct, as described herein.

(f) The Defendants' deception, including their affirmative misrepresentations and omissions concerning the price of Body Sealings, likely misled all consumers acting reasonably under the circumstances to believe that they were purchasing Body Sealings at prices set by a free and fair market. The Defendants' affirmative misrepresentations and omissions constitute information important to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class as they related to the cost of Body Sealings they purchased.

(g) The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Rhode Island Gen. Laws. § 6-13.1-1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

260. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act, S.C. Code Ann. §§ 39-5-10, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combination or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Body Sealing price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout South Carolina; (2) Body Sealing prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout South Carolina; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and

(4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on South Carolina commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of S.C. Code Ann. §§ 39-5-10, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

261. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of 9 Vermont § 2451, et seq.

(a) The Defendants and their co-conspirators agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a market that includes Vermont by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Body Sealings were sold, distributed, or obtained in Vermont.

(b) The Defendants deliberately failed to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning their unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings. The Defendants owed a duty to disclose such facts, and considering the relative lack of sophistication of the average, non-business consumer, the Defendants breached that duty by their silence. The Defendants misrepresented to all purchasers during the Class Period that their Body Sealing prices were competitive and fair.

(c) The Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Body Sealing price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Vermont; (2) Body Sealing prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Vermont; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Body Sealings.

(d) As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' violations of law, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered an ascertainable loss of money or property as a result of the Defendants' use or employment of unconscionable and deceptive commercial practices as set forth above. That loss was caused by the Defendants' willful and deceptive conduct, as described herein.

(e) The Defendants' deception, including their affirmative misrepresentations and omissions concerning the price of Body Sealings, likely misled all purchasers acting reasonably under the circumstances to believe that they were purchasing Body Sealings at prices set by a free and fair market. The Defendants' misleading conduct and unconscionable activities constitutes unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of 9 Vermont § 2451, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

FOURTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Unjust Enrichment

(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

262. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

263. Plaintiffs bring this claim under the laws of all states listed in the Second and Third Claims, supra.

264. As a result of their unlawful conduct described above, Defendants have and will continue to be unjustly enriched. Defendants have been unjustly enriched by the receipt of, at a minimum, unlawfully inflated prices and unlawful profits on sales of Body Sealings.

265. Defendants have benefited from their unlawful acts and it would be inequitable for Defendants to be permitted to retain any of the ill-gotten gains resulting from the overpayments made by Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class for Body Sealings.

266. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are entitled to the amount of Defendants' ill-gotten gains resulting from their unlawful, unjust, and inequitable conduct. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are entitled to the establishment of a constructive trust consisting of all ill-gotten gains from which Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class may make claims on a pro rata basis.

267. Pursuit of any remedies against the firms from which Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class purchased Vehicles containing Body Sealings subject to Defendants' conspiracy would have been futile.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Accordingly, Plaintiffs respectfully request that:

268. The Court determine that this action may be maintained as a class action under Rule 23(a), (b)(2) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and direct that reasonable notice of this action, as provided by Rule 23(c)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, be given to each and every member of the Classes;

269. That the unlawful conduct, contract, conspiracy, or combination alleged herein be adjudged and decreed:

- (a) An unreasonable restraint of trade or commerce in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act;
- (b) A per se violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act;
- (c) An unlawful combination, trust, agreement, understanding and/or concert of action in violation of the state antitrust and unfair competition and consumer protection laws as set forth herein; and
- (d) Acts of unjust enrichment by Defendants as set forth herein.

270. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class recover damages, to the maximum extent allowed under such laws, and that a joint and several judgment in favor of Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class be entered against Defendants in an amount to be trebled to the extent such laws permit;

271. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class recover damages, to the maximum extent allowed by such laws, in the form of restitution and/or disgorgement of profits unlawfully gained from them;

272. The Defendants, their affiliates, successors, transferees, assignees and other officers, directors, partners, agents and employees thereof, and all other persons acting or claiming to act on their behalf or in concert with them, be permanently enjoined and restrained from in any manner continuing, maintaining or renewing the conduct, contract, conspiracy, or combination alleged herein, or from entering into any other contract, conspiracy, or combination having a similar purpose or effect, and from adopting or following any practice, plan, program, or device having a similar purpose or effect;

273. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class be awarded restitution, including disgorgement of profits the Defendants obtained as a result of their acts of unfair competition and acts of unjust enrichment;

274. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes be awarded pre- and post- judgment interest as provided by law, and that such interest be awarded at the highest legal rate from and after the date of service of this Complaint;

275. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes recover their costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, as provided by law; and

276. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes have such other and further relief as the case may require and the Court may deem just and proper.
